Foreword

It is with pleasure that we submit to you this volume of the HACAWA. We trust that the innovations which we have seen fit to inaugurate within its covers may meet with your approval and that its readers may derive from it the same high degree of pleasure that the editors have had in compiling it.

This may perhaps be the last HACAWA to be published portraying the life of Lenoir College, for ere another year passes Daniel Rhyne may be its name. In view of this fact it is our hope that this volume may, in the years to come, recall to you pleasant memories of Old Lenoir.

Trusting that it will keep these memories bright and the friendships green, which have been formed within these walls, we submit to you the 1923 HACAWA.

DEDICATION

To Our President

Iohn Carnahan Prery A.M., D.D.

As an expression of our appreciation for his untiring efforts, which we feel have contributed so highly to the building of the Greater Lenoir, and in due recognition of the advancement made during his administration, we do respectfully dedicate this, the #### Lenoir! Lenoir!

Singing gayly, happy we Who belong to dear L. C.! Join our song—we'll make it ring In ever widening circles outward.

CHORUS

Lenoir! Lenoir! We love to sing thy name!
Lenoir! Lenoir! To spread abroad thy fame.
Lenoir! Lenoir! Our faith, our hopes, our cheers—
We give thee now and through all the coming years.

Naught can daunt us, for, you see, We are students of L. C. Tried and true in loyalty, Our thoughts go with her onward.

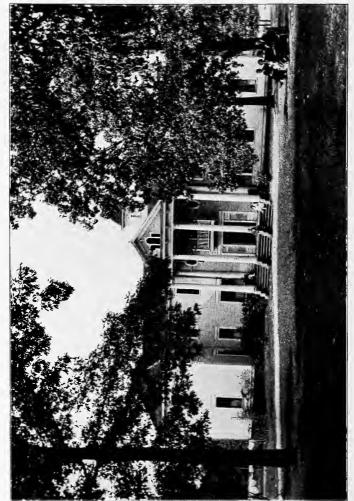

Raise together—one, two, three! Three strong cheers for our L. C.! Lenoir College! May we see Thy banner ever waving skyward!

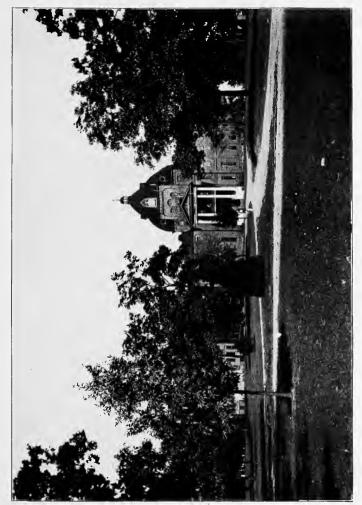

"Here studious let me sit
And hold high converse with the mighty."

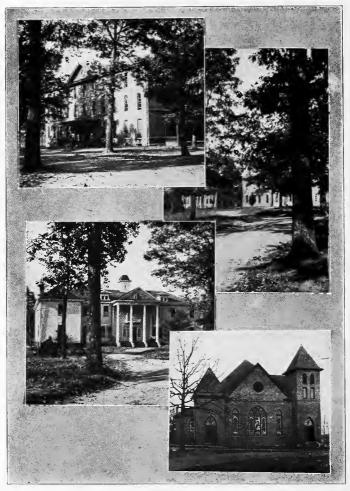

"Let me at least spin, dervish-like, About through circling sciences, Philosophies, and histories."

"Tis but a four year's fast: The mind shall banquet, though the body pine."

"These trees and stones are audible to me. I understand their fiery syllables."

"I behold once more My old familiar haunts."

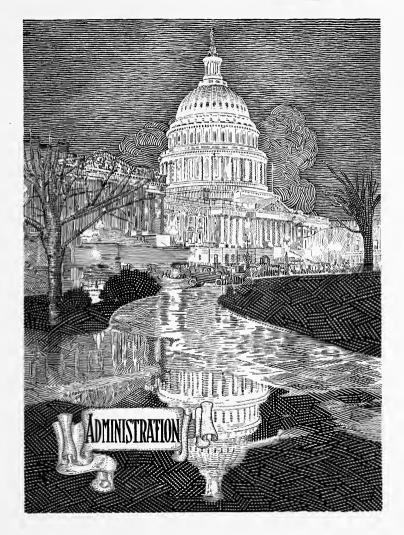

"Here's an inn where students stay, Some only breakfast and away; Others to dinner stop, and are full fed; While others study and go to bed."

"After the day there cometh the dark night; For though the day be never so long, At last the eve giveth place to twilight."

Frank Earnest Abernethy, A. B. . . . . . . . . . . . . . Stanley, N. C. CHRESTONIAN

Circulation Department of the Lenorian, 2; President of the Chrestonian Literary Society, 4; President of the Chrestonian Anniversary, 4; President of the Lincoln County Club, 4.

Dear old Frank is one of the best of pals and truest of friends to those that know him well; a good scholar, and a booster of all worth-while activities.

Frank expects to teach, and if a sunny disposition and willingness to work mean anything, his labors will be successful. Though he may labor unlauded in this dignified and worthy field, his friends will always cherish their remembrance of him and seek to keep alive the old friendship.

When Lenoir gives him his degree and enters his name on the roll of the alumni, she can feel satisfied that she has helped to mould the life of one in whom reside the trait of persistency of effort and constancy, which means much more in the long run than any transient brilliancy.

Fred Abernethy, A. B. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Lincolnton, N. C. EURONIAN

Advertising Manager Lenoirian, 3; Secretary Student Commission, 4; Vice-President Euronian Literary Society, 4.

Fred has truly gathered from our Alma Mater his portion of her goods. Besides taking his "prep" work at Lenoir, Fred has taken four years of academic work in the college department and on the side, the complete commercial course. But it is no more than was to be expected of him, for it is certainly characteristic of him to get all that it is possible to get legitimately. He plans to enter business when he graduates, and with his tact he promises to quickly rise to prominence,

CATHERINE ALLEN, A.Mus. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Hickory, N. C.

Catherine, the latest addition to our class, came to us after several years of study at Randolph-Macon. Like all the other Hickory Nuts, she is a jolly good sport, always ready and willing to do any of her friends a good turn. Her cheerful laugh is frequently heard resounding through the hals, and she is a familiar figure about the campus, never alone, but always with an abundance of escorts. Though not a scholar along literary lines, she is a real artist when it comes to "tickling the ivorles." Here is wishing you luck, Catherine, and may all your days be filled with happiness.

Quiet, amiable and dignified—yes, Lorena is the most dignified person in the Senior Class, according to the Juniors' vote. But that is not all that can be said of her, for she is a very capable girl, and in a very efficient manner has she performed her many different duties. In fact, the girls, recognizing her ability, gave her the very responsible position of president of the Oakview Student Commission, a position which she has filled with success.

Along with her academic work, Lorena has taken a course in domestic science and, judging from the splendid cats she can provide for parties and picnics, we predict that soon she will be forced "to take unto herself a husband."

Girls' Anniversary Play, 1, 2; Oakview Student Commission, 3; President Eumenean Literary Society, 4; Secretary and Treasurer Palmetto Club, 4.

"Bick" has been with us through all our years of wisdom-gaining. It may be said that she is the jolliests and most fun-loving member of our happy class. She has an appreciation of wit that is constantly manifested in her characteristic laugh. It is such as our happy "Bick" that drive away the cares and the unpleasant things and bring to folks the happiness and sunshine which make the old world brighter.

Her personality has won for her the admiration of all her acquaintances, and to them she is a real comrade and a true friend. It is her plan to teach, and by this decision, many children will profit.

Like unto a violet is Mildred, who is one of the worthy charter members of this class. She is small, and modesty is one of her strong virtues. "Quiet talk she liketh best, and her voice, it murmurs lowly." Mildred attends her own business and allows others the same privilege. She seldom misses a day from school, and not only is she present in body, but also in mind, with her lessons Bolick's contagious smile, which is forever "busting" into hearty laughter, has won for him the distinction of being the most popular member of our class. Full of dynamic pep. Wynne extends his all self into everything he does, and as an alt-round man, he does a great many things, including a variant of the speaker, singer, and executive, Wynne has overcome almost unsurmountable difficulties, and has met with success in all his undertakings. If he enters the arena of life with the same determination, nothing should prevent him from repeating his cellege successes in the world at large.

"J. I." is one of our most sturdy, sincere, and friendly students. He entered our class in 1920 from the University of North Carolina. He is an earnest worker in class and in society, and is a strong supporter of all athletic endeavors. We are proud of him as one of our talented artists. Since J. We are confident that he will succeed in the life work which he undertakes. Our best wishes will accompany him throughout life.

In the fall of '19 came another of Hickory's sons to our class, known to all his friends as "Pete." Just take a glance at the list of his achievements and you'll find that he's taken interest in all colegiate activities. But a glance at his achievements will not suffice. One must see "Pete" in action to appreciate him. Did you ever watch him catch a baseball, or ever hear him "burn up" the profs with a superfluity of knowledge. Or did you ever hear him turn the tables in a debate with some original combination of sense and nonsense? If you have not, then there's a treat in store for you. Even though "Pete" has a rare gift of cracking jokes and producing smiles, he is not just "bluff and nonsense," as he'd have us believe. There's a real man beneath that show—a man upon whom his classmates are betting.

It can be said of Fannie that she is a real student and spends the greater portion of her time studying and filling her practice periods. She adheres strongly to the proverb which calls for work before pleasure.

Fannie is planning to teach piano and the theory of music, and if she continues to work as faithfully and consistently as a teacher as she has as a student, she will be a splendid success,

A happy combination of sunny friendliness and staunch dependability, Katharine is loved by all who know her. Though a graduate in music this year, she doesn't devote all her time to that part, but expects to finish the literary course also next year. Her originality along this line is shown in short story writing.

A tiny lady, yet she has a big heart and is a sure cure for the blues. We are glad indeed to call Katharine a special of our class, and we hope that she may brighten up the dark spots of life as she has brightened the lives of her classmates at Lenoir.

Paul is one of our imported gentlemen who has proved his worth. He took up his abode with us in his junior year, after two years at Newberry College. When occasion demands he has a generous amount of dignity to offer, but he possesses a marked alfinity for social affairs. In fact, he could easily dance his way through life—with the right partner, of course. And—lest we forget—if you want your beauty struck, go see Paul; he's a born artist, and with a few strokes of his pen you see yourself as others see you. He may not be another "Apostle to the Gentdes," but we are all expecting great things of this man Paul.

President Old Dominion Club; President Elizabeth College Club,

Behold a Virginian of rare ability! Entering the Senior Class straight from Elizabeth College, "Lettle Vail" was soon recognized to be a leader. In her we find a combination of everything noble and precise, practical and lovable, a loyal, hard-working specimen of the "fair sex," with plenty of fine college spirit.

On the campus or elsewhere, "Lett" is a sympathetic friend to everybody. Her ability is not limited to class room brilliance—wherever found she is playing some prominent part in a modest way. No matter what she makes her life work, we are sure that success ultimately awaits her.

"Bunn" has the gift of taking things calmly and never allows the rest of us to get too far away from the sane and sensible basis of judgment.

In the fall of '20 Lenoir College received its first Japanese student, when Hirai came to us from Japan. From the fay of his arrival here to the present day, Klyoshi has been busy gathering knowledge and giving information concerning his homeland,

Never have we known a more considerate, conscientious, Christian student; there is no doubt in our minds that he has taken full advantage of his opportunity of studying in America. After finishing the course which he plans to take at the seminary and university, Hirai plans to return to Japan and to ald in the salvation of his fellow countrymen.

Take two large dreamy eyes, a wealth of dark-brown hair, a winsome personality, and you have "Nell," who has been voted the prettiest girl in the Senior Class.
"Nell" has only been with us two short years, her first two years having been spent at Catawba College. But during this time we have learned to love her both in work and play. When exam time comes "Nell" is there with a good grade, and when it is time for fun she is ready for the movies, a game of basketball, or tenuls.

Being known as a lover of excitement and a charmer of men, we wonder if in the years to come "Nell" will be found teaching school, as she predicts, or cheering some good man's home.

For his first two years he successfully dodged the arrows of Cupid, but at last he "fell." Here, with his pleasing smiles and ability to make friends easily, Jimmy soon found his place and filled it. He is a perfect featleman in every respect; he bears all the marks of a well educated and refined young man.

Kern was elected editor-in-chief of the Hacawa not on account of his large stature, but on account of his literary knowledge. In this capacity and as manager of the Glee Club, he has shown his good judgment and rare executive ability.

Our class is glad to send out into the foreign field this noble son of Old Lenoir to help "evangelize the world in this generation."

She was voted the sunnlest member of the class, and everyone agreed. That she is studious is shown by the fact that she stands near the top of her class in scholarship. And smartness is another of her distinguishing characteristics; she is smart in books and smart in looks, and—well, we really don't know anything in which she isn't smart.

"Junto" isn't conceited, though—she's far too sensible for that. She's always smiling, always jolly, always the same sociable Juanita. Last of all, she has ambition of sterling worth, and as she has always been successful in life thus far, we know she will always be.

If "two 'n one" is shoe polish, and "three 'n one" oil, what is "four 'n one"? You will doubtless answer, "five." but your answer is incorrect. "Four 'n one" is Curtis, because he is a "four 'n one" man, viz.; Athlete, soldier, scholar and gentleman.

Lenoir claimed Curtis before the war; during that period he served his country, but came back and joined us in the year '21.

Neither has the social side of the "tender, brown-eyed" Curtis been neglected. Quiet though he seems, he has his own ingenious way with the fair sex, and is a good sport.

Judging by his success in the religious field at Lenoir College, we have no fear for his future, but are eagerly looking forward to the day when he will be among the greatest ministers of the gospel,

Senior Class Poem

When in the distant future dark,
We scale the highlands of success;
Oft' still our thoughts return afar
To you, Lenoir—we love no less,

Ours be the spirit, brave we be, That hold our motto high: "Through perseverance we will win," Exalt and hold it to the sky,

We have upheld our banner high,
And still uphold it true,
Striving to help with all our might,
And give our hearts and minds to you,

Four long years we've labored here In "Old Leuoir's" majestic walls; With many doubts, and sometimes fear, Striving to conquer once for all.

Now we are parting, classmates, From scenes we love so well, And from you, Lenoir, we take A sad but fond farewell.

Senior Class History

T seems but a few days since the fall of '19, when forty green-eyed freshmen, now known as the Class of '23, appeared before the dignified professors of this institution to go through the process of matriculation. Time is a great wonder-worker, and a lot can happen in four years.

This Senior Class bears brilliant testimony to that fact.

Now, let us set forth and see what the life of this class has been. Early in our existence the class met and elected Jeff Norris as its leader for the year, and chose as its motto, "Through Perseverance We Win." With this motto in mind, and under the colors, "Purple and Gold," we started forth to take our real place in college life. Immediately members of our class were called to leadership in the literary societies, and some of our members are responsible for the organization and present standing of the Glee Club. Others from our class upheld the glory of old Lenoir on the athletic field and won honor for themselves and our class. It was while we were freshmen that we were privileged to aid the constituency of the college in putting over a highly successful endowment campaign which marked the beginning of a new era and made possible a greater Lenoir. Later in our college life members of our class were instrumental in converting our college magazine into a weekly newspaper, and under the careful guidance of the capable editor and business manager, both classmen of '23, the Lenoirian has increased its size and prestige.

In the field of forensic activities our class has not lagged behind. Members of the class have been for years leaders in their respective societies and have been the mainstays of the societies in presenting public debates and plays. Last year we had a half share in the intercollegiate debate against Elon, and again this year two members of our class debate against Elon.

The Class of '23 has given to the college a number of splendid athletes. In '21 and '22 five of our classmen received the coveted football "L". Tennis, basketball and baseball added more sons of the class to the "L" Club.

Before this record ends, mention must be made of the generous gift of our friend, Dan Rhyne, which marks our senior year as one of the most fortunate in the existence of the college. This gift, together with the sum which the synod is raising, will place Lenoir in the lead in the educational world.

Let every loved son and daughter of this Class of '23, the largest ever to go forth from Lenoir, resolve individually and collectively ever to strive in the future as we have in the past to add more laurels to the many already heaped upon our dear Alma Mater, and ever to work and pray for the greater Lenoir College.

CLASS HISTORIAN.

Senior Class Prophecy

T was a beautiful June evening—one of those evenings which cause one to reflect on "days that have been." My mind drifted back twenty-five years to my college days, and again I saw myself in the old auditorium with my classmates where we assembled for devotional exercises every morning.

Wrapped thus in thought, I walked out into a flower garden. The evening breeze blew softly, the birds were singing their last sweet songs, and the lovely flowers were giving forth a heavenly fragrance. I walked a few steps and sat down beneath a pink rose vine, upon which bloomed one large rose of wondrous beauty. It seemed to smile at me as I lifted it to my face. "Oh, it must have a soul!" I breathed, as I plucked the lovely thing and began to inhale its fragrance; and it had! From its heart I heard soft whispering. Placing it to my ear, I heard it say: "And now, you shall see your classmates as they are today." In my extreme ecstasy I pressed the lovely rose to my heart, when, to my dismay, the velvet-like petals began to fall, one by one.

I looked sadly at the little pink mass at my feet. With trembling fingers I picked up one of the petals, and a scene in the capitol square at Raleigh was revealed. The people were rejoicing over the election of their new governor, Lewis Carpenter. Just before "Molly" assumed his office the ex-governor, Paul Deaton, made his farewell address to the populace. I was not surprised that their native state should have recognized the qualities of leadership in these noble men.

My curiosity was thoroughly aroused as I ventured to pick up another petal. On the broad veranda of a pretty house in Los Angeles sat Rev. B. D. Castor and his talented wife. I learned that DeKime was a pastor in the local Lutheran Church.

Another petal, and I found myself face to face with "Bick." But who was that distinguished looking gentleman by her side? At once she introduced me to her husband, who was world-famous as a lecturer, but who seemed to be a "peculiar sort of a genius." "Bick" told me that they had just returned from a tour of Europe.

As I raised the next petal from the ground there loomed up before me a majestic group of buildings. A man and woman descended the steps of the main building and walked toward me. Who else could it be but W. C. Boliek, Ph.D., and his charming wife, Pauline Cauble Boliek? I soon learned that Wrnne was president of the Lutheran Seminary in Philadelphia.

Eagerly I picked up another petal. This time I found myself walking down a street in Philadelphia. A car stopped in front of me and a tall, dignified woman stepped lightly from the car. Instantly I recognized her as Lettie Vail Greever. She explained that she was teaching physics in the University of Pennsylvania, and I remembered that she was a member of that famous physics class of 1923.

Picking up another petal, there came into view an enormous building. As I was about to enter the door, a tall gentleman passed me. Something in his countenance impressed me; I glanced back at him, and immediately recognized Frank Abernethy. Indeed I was delighted to see him again. He told me that he had been a most fortunate man since he left his classmates of '23, and that he had married the most bewitching woman in the world. Incidentally he mentioned that he was president of a large bank.

From beneath the next petal an exquisite scene of beauty and loveliness was revealed. It was cherry blossom time in Japan. Everybody seemed intensely happy. Under several of these trees a group of little brown children were eagerly listening to the story of the Christ Child who was born in a manger. Glancing at the story-teller, I at once recognized the sunny smile of Hirai. I realized afresh that Hirai was a faithful servant of his God and of his fellow countrymen.

Quickly seizing another petal, I found myself in the studio of Elizabeth White and Mary Plonk Du Bois, in the Boston Conservatory. They had made a success of their chosen profession and were now the leading instructors of piano in the school. I learned that Mary's husband was a violin professor in the same conservatory. On Elizabeth's left hand a sparkling diamond attracted my attention. I wondered who the lucky man was, but didn't have time to inquire.

Silently I picked up another petal. I found myself in a stately class room of the Chicago Lutheran Seminary. I glanced at the dignified professor and found him to be none other than Jeff Norris. As I left the Seminary I noticed a young man studying a text-book written by J. L. Norris, D.D., S.T.D.

The scene vanished and I picked up another little velvet petal and found myself in a huge auditorium where a vast audience sat quietly listening to music of exquisite tenderness. But who were the musicians? Looking closer, I recognized my dear classmates, Annie Sigmond and Dorothea Wolff. I listened breathlessly while Annie sang two of my favorite pieces—"Vilanelle" and "Without You." Then, as I heard Dot tenderly play "Traumerei," I felt as if I were carried out of this world into the ethereal regions.

I thoughtfully grasped another petal. It was evening in Liberia, Africa. All was quiet at the Phoebe Hospital, but as I walked nearer there in the hush of twilight I heard the voices of Juanita and Jimmy. I learned that Drs. James S. Kern and Juanita Mauney Kern, his attractive wife, were the leading surgeons at the Phœbe Hospital, and also faithful workers in the Muhlenberg Boys' School and the Emma V. Day School for Girls.

As I raised the next petal from the ground I heard from the Washington radio station the announcement of a series of sermons by the noted evangelist, Edwin F. Troutman, which were to be preached by him in the Lutheran Church of that city, and from there broadcasted through the land.

Glancing across the street, I saw Fred Abernethy entering a big store. On his face was the old familiar smile, but he bore all the marks of a prosperous business man. I looked to see the name of the concern; it was none other than the Abernethy Shoe Store.

Eagerly I picked up another petal, which was almost wilted. There came into view a group of buildings. It seemed that a few of them were familiar, but I was not sure—the scene was dim. I looked again and saw that it was really the greater Lenoir of which we, as students, had dreamed. Then can you imagine my surprise and delight when I saw Eugene Smith in the president's chair, busily filing letters! While he and I were discussing Lenoir's growth we heard someone enter. I turned and was warmly greeted by Fannie Farris, whom "Gene" introduced as the head of the Music Department.

I stopped a moment to meditate, then touched another petal, and slowly I was walking into a magnificent church in Kansas City. Looking at the choir, I recognized "Bunn," dressed in the deaconess garb, sweetly singing the song I loved so well when we were seniors: "You Ask Me Why I Gave My Heart to Christ." After the service I was introduced to the pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. C. K. Wise.

Upon grasping another petal, I was being ushered through the stately halls of Brown University. Imagine my extreme delight when I met my old friend, Mildred Bingham. While talking with her I learned that she was Professor of Education in that university.

I picked up another velvet petal. This time I found myself in a large theatre, where the Redpath Lyceum was rendering a program. I heard a familiar voice singing "Nearest and Dearest." I soon recognized Tickle's tenor, and from the program learned that the pianist was his wife. Following this musical program, I was delightfully entertained by our class cartoonist, I. I. Cline.

On picking up the next petal, I found myself in Florida. I walked slowly down the street, enjoying the delightful weather. I noticed two small children who, apparently, were quarreling.

The pretty little girl with black curls told me her brother wouldn't let her pull his wagon. Just then a beautiful woman came out of the house to see about the children. Immediately I knew her as Nell Hoover. After greeting me kindly I found that she had married a wealthy business man and that the two children were theirs.

The scene vanished. I held another fragile petal. There I stood before a door of one of the closs rooms of Harvard University. At once I was attracted by the sign, "Donald Hutton, Ph.D. Head of the Department of American Archæology and Ethnology." Quickly I tapped on the door and was admitted by the dignified Professor Hutton. Donald looked familiar, with that little rosebud adorning his coat. He soon led me across the campus to a magnificent residence, where we were met by Lorena. While we were engaged in happy reminiscences, the scene suddenly began to grow dim. I tried to take a parting glance, but only the golden glow of the sinking sun met my gaze.

Glancing at another petal, I found myself in a lovely bungalow. I looked around to see who was to appear there. Then the door opened and Katharine Fritz, with her husband, a popular doctor, entered. They had been to a meeting of the Atlanta Music Club, of which she was president. Under her direction, she said, it had been able to obtain the world's hest artists for their weekly programs.

One last dainty petal lay at my feet. Sadly and with trembling fingers I picked it up. Beneath it lay the latest copy of the Metropolitan. Fascinated by the artistic simplicity and beauty of the cover, I picked it up in order to examine hetter the perfect lines and shadings, and was surprised to see the signature, "Paul Fulenwider," in the lower right-hand corner.

As I turned through the magazine I was struck by the eccentric charm of a ballet dancer. Glancing at the glaring headlines, I read: "Catherine Allen, famous successor to the great Mme. Anna Pavlowa, will appear at the Metropolitan Opera House next month."

I realized, as never before, that time simply flies on silent wings. The sun had dropped behind the western horizon, the birds had ceased to sing, and all around me I heard the voices of night. The moon and the stars had come out to keep watch over this tranquil scene.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1923

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA ) CITY OF HICKORY. COUNTY OF CATAWBA

E, the undersigned, officially known as the Senior Class of Lenoir College, realizing that many things absolutely requisite for existence within these classic walls will be of little value to us henceforth, and being fully aware of our impending departure from this state of perpetual turmoil, being possessed at present of sound minds and good health, do hereby make, declare and publish this, our last will and testament, at the same time revoking and declaring utterly null and void all other wills and testaments by us hitherto made.

SECTION 1.

ARTICLE 1. To the faculty we do will and bequeath all our books in the hope that the notes in the margins may enable those who follow us to get more light on the deep subjects discussed therein, and also more fully to appreciate Dr. Longaker's jokes and Dr. Rein's puns.

ARTICLE 2. We do also gladly and freely give to the faculty all knowledge obtained from us during our sojourn here and the unquestioned right and privilege of using in their lectures any and all of the original ideas and facts gleaned from our examination papers.

ARTICLE 3. To said faculty we also will our many thanks for and deepest appreciation of the sincere efforts made to graduate the Class of '23 with honors.

SECTION 2.

ARTICLE I. To the Junior Class we bequeath all our senior privileges, with the hope that they will be able to use them to even better advantage than we have, and to attain that one long-sought-after, but never gained by us—namely, optional attendance on all classes.

ARTICLE 2. To the junior girls we leave our senior table at Oakview, together with the magic word by which we managed to get cream to drink for breakfast and two pieces of chicken for dinner on Sunday.

ARTICLE 3. To the sophomores we grant the privilege of being jolly juniors and of sitting on the back seats in chapel and observing the dignified mien of the seniors.

ARTICLE 4. To the Class of '26 we do bequeath one hundred pounds of salt in the hope that it may aid in transforming their verdant freshness into the gracious condescension of the all-wise sophomore.

SECTION 3.

Of our personal belongings we do dispose as follows:

ARTICLE 1. I, Julius Tickle, do hereby will and bequeath to Dewey Starnes my recipe for obtaining a date at Oakview on Sunday afternoon.

ARTICLE 2. I, Donald Hutton, do joyfully give to George Fetzer the painful task of extracting shekels from the business men of Hickory for advertising space in the HACAWA.

ARTICLE 3. I, Evelyn Bickley, do grant to Mabel Rudisill my privilege of giggling at any time, any place, and under whatsoever circumstances I see fit, with the admonition that she exercise a little more discretion in the use of said privilege than

I have in the past.

ARTICLE 4. I, James Kern, hereby bequeath to James Roof my title of "King James" and my ability to manage all the affairs of the Senior Class; and I bequeath to George Fulenwider my distinction of being the most "girlish looking" boy at Highland ARTICLE 5. We, Pauline Cauble and Wynne Boliek, do will to Ruth Karriker and Cy Lutz our corner of the parlor at Oakview, with all the secrets that they may be able to extract from the radiator reposing therein.

ARTICLE 6. I, Paul Deaton, do give to my friend, Joby Hawn, my privilege of cutting classes whenever I feel indisposed to attend; also my interest in Oakview Hall.

ARTICLE 7. I, Lorena Arndt, appreciating her great need, do will to Mabel Rhodes one-half of my surplus dignity, and to Annella Greever my interest in the Chemistry laboratory.

ARTICLE 8. We, Nell Hoover and Juanita Mauney, do leave to Ruth Troutman and Mary Goins all our recipes for reducing and all our books on "How to Grow Thin."

ARTICLE 9. I, Curtis Wise, do give to Mary Deaton my interest in the "little brown church in the wildwood," and to Jennings Moretz my last bottle of hair restorer, wishing him better results than I have had from the use of same in the past.

ARTICLE 10. I, Fred Abernethy, do bequeath to Charley Kyles my sweetness of disposition, and to Junius Coon my love for "Eliza."

ARTICLE 11. I, Dorothea Wolff, will to Bertha Woolever my talent for bluffing the faculty and for jazzing hymns, also all my rules for vamping.

ARTICLE 12. I, Virgie Lee Harvard, do graciously bequeath my love of posing and my ability to pose exquisitely for the photographer to my dear friend, Kathryn Rudisill.

ARTICLE 13. We, Molly Carpenter and Jeff Norris, do leave to the psychology department, subsequent to our departure from this life, our brains for observation and demonstration purposes, so that by the study of two such simple specimens even the dullest of pupils may be able to comprehend the discussion of axons, dendrites, neurone paths, and vacuum found in Pillsbury.

We do hereby constitute and appoint the young faculty additions our lawful executors to all intents and purposes to execute this, our last will and testament, according to the true intent and meaning of the same, said execution to take place when the aforementioned faculty additions have attained the standing of freshmen in the Daniel Rhyne College.

Witnessed by: Our long list of deeds and misdeeds, both intentional and accidental, and our glorious resolutions for the future.

Junior Class Song

Dear Juniors! Dear Juniors! Our college life is here— We join our hands as faithful few; We stand to fight our foes aright, As Juniors! As Juniors! To colors Black and Gold We yell, we call, we fight for all— Our Class of Twenty-four!

As Juniors! As Juniors!
We bid you stand and wait,
And see our flag float o'er the world
As loyal Juniors, onward move,
On forward! On forward!
By strength of what we want
We strive, we climb, we gain our aim—
Our Class of Twenty-four!

CLAUDE ADERHOLDT

No one will deny that Claude Aderholdt is one of the leading men in our class. He is a man of strong character, sound judgment, very energetic, broad-minded and capable. Claude is a splendid worker and has won the admiration of both the faculty and student body. We feel sure whatever he undertakes he will be very successful in this world.

LETHCO C. BUMGARNER HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Lethco entered Lenoir in his freshman year. His chief characteristics are friendliness, punctuality to classes, college spirit and interest in vocal music. He is an energetic worker, and we feel certain his efforts will be crowned with success.

LUCILE BUMGARNER HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Lucile must have been born lucky—she has her home almost on the campus, near enough for her to take an active part in everything that happens. She is a talented musician and a splendid athlete. If she can run her husband as well as she runs her Studebaker, her life will be a happy one.

G. C. BUSH LENOIR, NORTH CAROLINA

Possessing a great amount of good judgment and common sense, Grover C. stands high in the estimation of his comrades. It is rumored that when he returns next year he will no longer be a bachelor. Having had several years' experience as a teacher already, we fell sure that Bush, with his training at L. C. will soon rise to prominence in the teaching profession.

HENRY CARMON CASTOR CONCORD, NORTH CAROLINA

H. C. entered our class as a Junior from M. P. C. I. Handsome and dignified, as well as a jolly good fellow, we were glad to welcome him into our class. With his friendly disposition, energy and studious mien, he should be able to realize his ambition and become a most successful minister.

L. M. CALDWELL NEWTON, NORTH CAROLINA

"Doc" came to us this year from Catawba College, and although he has not been with us very long, he has won for himself a large place in our class. "Doc" is preparing for medicine, and his ability to make friends and the willingness to work are sure to bring him success.

HAZEL CROUCH HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Hazel has been with us since the beginning of our college life. She is a quiet, unassuming girl, but gets more work done than many people who are heard and seen more than she. Though she does not put herself forward, Hazel has a smile and a kind word for all her friends.

CLIFTON DEAL HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

"Sis" entered our class as a freshman, and the fact that he acquired the name "Sis" is proof that he was "fresh" enough. However, as a junior he has taken on all the dignity that he can well use. As a student he has always been one of the bright lights of our class. We predict a bright future for Clifton.

FANNIE FARRIS CHERRYVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Fannie believes in utilizing every passing moment. She is an industrious, active member of the class, whose friendship should be prized highly. She entreats you, through her actions, to be as faithful to classes as to meals. The is no problem she cannot solve with her strong, energetic mind. In music her ability is truly great, while in literary work only a few can excel her.

GEORGE W. FETZER

Fetzer hails from the land of "Georgia Crackers." His specialty is clog dancing, but he likes music and is often found probing into the mysteries of the printed page. George is an all-round good fellow, whom we are proud to call our classmate.

KATHARINE FRITZ

Katharine has been with us since the beginning of our college life. There is something worth while in all she says and does, and through her kind words and deeds she has won a circle of friends who will never forget her. With her many talents and loyalty to duty, we know that she will reap an abundant reward in whatever field she may choose to work.

OLIN GRADY FRITZ LEXINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

As a "dreamer of dreams and a lover of nature," Fritz came to us in our freshman year. He is a noted orator of the Euronian Society and a staunch member of our College Band. He is a man of few words, but of deep thoughts, not satisfied with just knowing what others tell him, but wants to find out for himself. Fritz intends to enter the medical profession.

MARY ALICE GOINS REEPSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

We were very fortunate in having Mary join our ranks in the sophomore year after she had been absent from college for one year. With a smile and a strong determination, she meets the tasks as they come, and never leaves them undone. True, loyal, and a hard worker, she has climbed steadily to the top.

ELIZABETH HENTZ STROTHER, SOUTH CAROLINA

To say that "Lib" is good looking is not enough, for she has that which is far deeper and more lasting—namely, a wonderful personality. "Lib" is very popular among the girls, and many are the boys who have "fallen" for her. A good student, loyal to her society, class and college, she will make a success as a teacher.

B. R. HINSON

The Class of '24 was glad to add Hinson to its roll in the fall of '22. He is a good fellow to know and never too busy for fun. His pleasing personality and infectious laughter have already won many friends for him at L. C. Bunks is a very enthusiastic member of the "Live Wire Band." He also plays basketball and baseball.

CHARLES F. KYLES STATESVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Charlie is one of the most mischievous persons imaginable, and is forever playing pranks. His trombone adds much to the melodies of the college band. Having been disappointed in love once, Charlie believes that 'tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

C. E. LUTZ HENRY, NORTH CAROLINA

Cy is a loyal and faithful member of the Junior Class. Many good things might be said about Cy, but his punctuality and conscientiousness must be highly commended. The fact that this man is treasurer of more organizations than any other person on the hill testifies to the fact that he is a financier. Cy may be "sot in his ways," but he is not "spineless," and as a minister he has splendid possibilities.

JOSEPHINE MOOSE HENRY RIVER, NORTH CAROLINA

"Joe" is not one who pushes herself to the front, nor is she very easy to get acquainted with, but after learning to know her you find that a better and truer friend is nowhere found. "Joe" is an earnest and sincere worker in the class room and on the campus. In attaining the high ideals which she strives for, we extend to our classmate our very best wishes.

WALTER JENNINGS MORETZ SANDS, NORTH CAROLINA

If we were choosing an all-round student and friend, we would certainly consider Jennings Moretz. He is generally liked by everybody, and has set'red as president of our class for the past two years. He is interested in athletics and is an ardent ministerial student. We are confident that Jennings will be successful in his field of work.

KATE L. MOSTELLER LINCOLNTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Kate has been with us since the beginning of our college life, and has proved to be a loyal member of our class. She is faithful and conscientious in anything she undertakes, and, though small in stature, she makes up for it intellectually. Kate is of a frank, happy nature, and is liked by everyone.

AGNES M. PARK

Agnes is one of those "Betsy" girls that the fates decreed should bless our class with her presence. We feel honored to have a native Korean with a bright future before her with us. Agnes is a capable girl and has the rare ability of making friends.

EDNA RHODES

"Ed" is one of our shining stars on the basketball field. This is one of the many reasons why we are glad she decided to stop teaching and finish her college career with the Class of '21. "Ed" is known to everybody as a good sport as well as a good student.

ARLIE RHYNE STANLEY, NORTH CAROLINA

Arlie is one of the silent workers of our class. She does not wish a conspicuous place in college life, hut loyally supports all undertakings of her class. She is a true friend and a faithful student. During her three years with us she has gained a warm place in the hearts of her fellow students.

C. Ross Ritchie concord, north carolina

Ross came to Lenoir by the Mt. Pleasant route, and entered our class as a junior. He is a good sport and a perfect gentleman. The popularity of Ross culminated in his election to the office of editor-in-chief of the Lenoirian for the year 1922-1923. We see in him an orator, preacher, and philosopher.

JAMES ROOF BLOUNTVILLE, TENNESSEE

We are proud to claim "Jim" as a member of our Junior Class. He is interested in all college activities, and he especially delights in going to Oakview. By his friendly smile, cheerful remarks and witty jokes, many of us have been made to forget our troubles and smile with him.

D. OLIN RUDISILL LINCOLNTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Olin entered our class as a freshman from Daniels High School. He is especially interested in athletics and society work. His oratorical ability cannot be questioned, and when it comes to arguing, he takes great delight in telling others what he believes.

KATHRYNE RUDISILL DALLAS, NORTH CAROLINA

This friendly, good-natured daughter of Dallas became a freshman in the fall of '20. Ever since the day she arrived Kat has demonstrated her talents as an athlete and has already won a letter and two stars in basketball. A leader in college life, Kat has before her a promising future.

VICTOR SHUFORD LINCOLNTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Victor is a loyal supporter of all college activities. Besides being president of the College Band, he boasts of playing the longest horn in the band. In the social world "Vic" is also a shining star. He is a member of the Diakonian Club, having chosen the ministry as his life's work. The best wishes of the entire class for success in his chosen work follow him.

PAUL SIEG HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Paul comes to us as a junior from Roanoke. We are exceedingly glad to have him a member of our class. He has already proved to the class his ability as a leader and as a student. When Sieg says anything you may rest assured that there is proof back of the statement.

RUSSEL SIGMOND HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Russell could very appropriately be called "Smiling Jim." Everybody likes "Flirtation." and vice versa. He does not sing, "The girls go wild, simply wild, over me," but they do, just the same. Russell will make his mark anywhere if he digs into the problems of life as he does into the mysteries of chemistry.

Junior Class

GEORGE EDWARD SMITH CHINA GROVE, NORTH CAROLINA

"George Ed," a former member of the Class of '23, was received into our class at the beginning of this, our junior year. Last year George felt called to teach the youth of our land, and decided not to return to Lenoir. We are glad that he saw fit to return this year and cast his lot with us.

SILAS SMYRE HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Silas came to us last year from Catawba College. He is quiet and easy-going, but just you watch him at the ball game—he has plenty of pep! Silas is a great tennis enthusiast. He also displays quite an interest in the co-eds. Here's to your success, Silas!

E. RAY TREXLER ROCKWELL, NORTH CAROLINA

Trex is a graduate of M. P. C. I., where he was regarded as one of their best students. He came to Lenoir to get his A.B., and is planning to take up the ministry. Ray is a splendid orator and a deep thinker—qualities which will bring him success in his life work.

RUTH TROUTMAN TROUTMAN, NORTH CAROLINA

Ruth joined our class in the fall of 1920. Not only has she shown her talents in the class room, but also as a member of the Philalethian Society. Her face at once shows that she is a student and that she stands by her own convictions. Ruth is loyal to her class and speaks a good word for her college when the opportunity presents itself.

BEULAH WALBORN VAN WERT, OHIO

There are four distinguishing characteristics of this jolly, good-natured Beulah: she has auburn hair; she is from Ohio; she is a Student Volunteer, and she loves Zip. Beulah is a good pal to have, and will always be remembered for her many services rendered to her friends.

Junior Class

HILDA WHITENER

Hilda became a member of our class in her freshman year. As a real student, this Hickory Nut has made a remarkable record in her class work. On the campus she is known as a jovial, good-natured girl, and is admired by all her acquaintances. With her interest in art and ability as a designer, she can easily become an artist.

BUNOLA WILLIS HENRY, NORTH CAROLINA

Bunola came to us in our freshman year, a worthy product of Daniels High School. A capable and hard-working student, she has ranked high in scholarship, and at the same time has filled the position of assistant librarian. Nothing is too difficult for her, and our prophecy is that her life will be a useful one.

GRACE YODER HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

What would our class do without our jolly, good-natured "Uncle Mose," as Grace is sometimes called? She has been with us three years, and has made many friends. She has a smile for everyone, and rarely does she see a gloomy day. It may be said of Grace that she spreads sunshine wherever she goes.

LILY YOUNT CONOVER, NORTH CAROLINA

Lily enlisted in our ranks as a freshman and has been one of the class's most consistent supporters. She can be depended upon at all times to do her bit for the good of the class. She is one of the best students of the class, and has the record of having been on the honor roll from the first examination until the present time. We predict a bright and useful future for Lily as a teacher.

"Forward"

The precious years have glided fast away Since in this place our happy lots we cast. 'Ere two more happy years have glided past Far from this sacred spot our feet shall stray. No more in our warm fellowship's bright ray Shall we, as now, carefree in spirit bask.

Oh, then, consider how our time is spent In this, our junior year, so bright and free! Let each suggested task a duty be, And may our fall'ring steps far from the bent Of this world's vice and wickedness be sent, That our young spirits a noble outlook see.

'Ere long the world will call us to our task; With ready heart we must that voice obey, And forth into the husy world our way Will gladly take; nor any reward ask Of Him but that, our labors finished, we May reunite in blest eternity.

Junior Class History

HREE years ago the Class of '24 entered the halls of dear L. C. to begin its climb for knowledge. How strange everything seemed to most of us!

Being freshmen, of course we felt very insignificant, especially when we would hear those wise sophomores say: "Oh, well, we must look over them—they're freshies!" This made us strive all the harder to hold our place in the student body. We felt more like college students when the professors would address us as Miss and Mr. Our first year was a very successful one. Many of our class members won first distinction in literary work. Our class was organized early in the year, and real class spirit was manifested.

On our return to L. C. in 1921 we assumed an air of much importance—for were we not to be the "wise" class of our college? We were sorry that some of our classmates could not return, but welcomed those who came to fill their places. Our class was well represented in all the activities of the college. We were especially proud of our class members who won honors in football.

Two short successful years spent, and now we have become "jolly juniors." At the opening of the fall term of 1922 rumors were started that our class had no life in it. At once we began to prove that this was a false statement. Our class was reorganized and much enthusiasm was shown. We now have our class song; the words of this were written by one of our classmates. One morning our class "blossomed forth" in black slip-over sweaters, and on each was a very prominent yellow "24." We are very proud of the fact that our class was the first to introduce "class sweaters" at L. C. In November of this year we started work on a class play, "Much Ado About Betty." This was to be given before the Christmas holidays, but had to be postponed on account of so much "flu" in the school.

We are glad that we have several musicians in our class, and also that several of our number have the ministry in view. We hope to send out from our class not only preachers and musicians, but also teachers, orators, debaters and doctors.

We are beginning to realize more and more the responsibilitiy that is soon to rest upon us, especially since we are to fill the seniors' places next year. We are learning that a college course is not merely a certain number of hours' work to be done, or a definite amount of knowledge to be obtained from text-books, but it is to develop the ambition and ability of the student. We hope that all our members will return next year and help make the last year of our college career as successful as the first three have been.

Coach Norman G. LaMotte

In Coach Norman LaMotte are found the qualities that go to make up a first class coach—leadership, athletic prowess, pep and enthusiasm.

Coach LaMotte assumed the position as head coach last fall, having come from Norfolk, Virginia, where he was physical director of Norfolk public schools. Aside from his athletic ability, Mr. LaMotte is a university graduate, having received his A.B. degree from the University of South Carolina.

In 1912 he entered Newberry College as a student and made letters in football and basketball. Then he entered the University of South Carolina, where he became assistant physical director of the University.

During the summer of 1914 he attended the University of Illinois Summer School for coaches, studying football under Zuppke, basketball under Ralph Jones, haseball under G. Huff, and track under Harry Gill.

During 1916-17 he was athletic director at Donaldson Military Academy, Fayette-ville, where he put out the championship football team of North Carolina preparatory schools. In 1917-18 he was athletic director at Rock Hill, South Carolina. After the war he became athletic director of the Maury High School, Norfolk, Virginia. That year he won the Tidewater championship for his basketball team. The next year, while continuing as athletic director at the Maury High School, he was elected supervisor of physical training of the whole system of public schools of Norfolk. This year his team won the state championship in both basketball and baseball, and lost in football finals to the team which won the championship by one touchdown.

Coach LaMotte is steadily building up the athletic phase of our college life, and although our record shows few victories for the past year, his work is of a character that will be seen in the future teams of the college. LaMotte is working for the glory of Lenoir, and Lenoir is proud of him.

Athletics at Lenoir

RHYNE, Cheer Leader

Athletics at Lenoir is still in infancy, but quite a healthy youngster it is growing to Though true our teams have not, as vet, made a sensational nor an enviable record in point of games won and lost, still, from the standpoint of the sacrifices and honest efforts, under most adverse circumstances, which the individual members of the squads have made in their attempt to give to us teams to be proud of, from this standpoint we feel that our athletics have proved a big success. This spirit of self-sacrifice and subordination of self is the spirit which permeates all of our activities in sports. The first requirement which we make of our athletic candidates is that they lose their personal selves and ambitions in the team as a whole, for our college as a whole. We are not in the market for that type of roving commercial athlete found in so many of our small schools, and with our strict and binding eligibility regulations governing our players, we are prohibited from using this type of man even though he be at school.

We send our team in games to win, if that be possible by fair means, but we recognize at Lenoir that the mere winning of the game is the least we receive out of it, and if we must stoop to conquer, then fall we had rather, with the consolation of having won the moral victory of fair play, upon the winning of which we set a higher value than the final score of the game itself, feeling that then we can accept defeat gracefully, as becomes true sports, and knowing that there can be no real elation in taking games unfairly. The importance of athletics to us lies in the means and opportunity they furnish of developing real qualities of manhood and womanhood, and this, rather than their commercial value, is the raison d'etre of athletics at Lenoir.

Јегг	Norris
Lewi	s B. Carpenter
	Carpenter played an end position last year, but early in this season he was shifted to the backfield. Light, but full of fight and very speedy, "Molly" is one of the few who played every minute of every game. A star at passing and receiving in the aerial phase of the game, and a long-distance punter, "Molly" could always be depended upon. He finishes this year.
Fred	Brown
Yат E	S HEAFNER
	Heafner lost out in the first part of the season this year due to injuries and illness, but he came back strong in the latter part of the season. He is fast, aggressive, and gets down under punts like an old-timer. Yates has an over-supply of pep and keeps a level head at all times. He was elected manager for next year, and the Lutherans are expecting great things from him.

Јон	EVANS
EDW	IN TROUTMAN
	Troutman ended his football career at Catawba Thanksgiving Day. His two years on the Lenoir line have given evidence that he was not a novice. If there ever was a man who had fighting pep it was Troutman. He is not very tall, but he is the tower of strength, and his opponents make little progress over him. His loss will

Homer Hawn

Hawn easily won his "L" this year, even though it was his first to play football.

He was the fastest man in the backfield, and when he was given the ball to ca.ry he carried it for a worth-while gain. As a broken field runner he was not surpassed, and he could pass the ball for a forward pass in an efficient way. "Joby" has been elected captain for next season, and he plans to lead the Lutherans to victory.

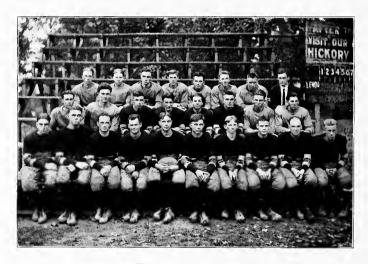

be felt.

Olin	Rudisill
	Rudisill was not in every game of the season, but he played in a sufficient number to win a star. His style of hitting the line shows that he has the qualities of a football player. When he bucks the opposing line with all the strength he has, the fellow on the other is moved, and a hole for the ball to pass through is made. Olin will be back next year to carry on.
Wrie	GHT THOMPSON
	Although a new man on LaMotte's outfit, Thompson has made a good record. He entered Lenoir this fall, and at once donned a uniform. He soon displayed real ability and was given the reins. He has made a first-class quarterback and a consistent ground gainer. For three years he will be on the team, and he will make a record.
Jason	N RUDISILL
	Rudisill came from Winthrop Training School. With his training and determination, he very easily won the pivot position. Although a first-year man, he takes the game seriously, and with more experience, will make one of the best centers in college football. His passing was true, and he always covered his share of the ground. Jason will be back next year to try out for the center position.
Robe	RT CLEMMER
KODE
	Being handicapped by his lack of knowledge of the game did not keep Clemmer from gaining a letter. Though the smallest man on the team, he was one of the pluckiest. Clemmer is speedy and full of fight, and if he returns next year, he will find a place on the team.

N. G. LAMOTTE, Coach

Here is the man who deserves credit for success in basketball this season. With three freshmen on the first line-up, Coach has developed one of the fastest teams of the state. His system of defense is almost impregnable.

JAY BOGGS, Captain and Forward

When it comes to speed, Capt. "Jay" is not surpassed by a single man on the Lenoir quintet. He moves like a piece of well-oiled machinery, and is able to cage the basket at any angle.

L. B. CARPENTER, "Molly," Manager

This lad handled the basketball season and handled it well. "Molly" arranged one of the best schedules that the "Upstaters" have ever had. The manner in which he works and his method were not only pleasing to the squad, but to the entire student body.

GARNETT MITCHELL, "Doc," Forward

"Doc", one of Hickory High's mainstays last year, easily won an open berth as forward this year. His perfect ease, together with his speed on the floor, will make him one of the best forwards that can be found.

J. D. TICKLE, Guard, Center

Tickle was kept out last year on account of a broken leg. Coach has shifted him to guard this year. He has proved to be a stalwart man on the defense. This, together with his extraordinary shooting ability, makes him a basketball star of the first degree.

JENNINGS KOONTZ, Center

This rangy lad has played a spectacular game this season. Although this is Koontz's first year to play college basketball, yet he fills the place of a veteran. His easiest job is to get the tip-off, pass the ball, and cage one every few minutes.

H. C. HAWN, "JOBY," Guard

"Joby" was probably the hardest fighting player the Lutherans had this year. He was always aggressive and an artist at dribbling the ball from one end of the court to the other. With his speed, he is able to break through most any kind of a defense, and shoot.

W. C. Boliek. Guard

Serving his senior year on the quint, Boliek played a wonderful game this year. His close guarding, together with his good, hard work, has made him an outstanding man in reserve.

BAXTER MOOSE, Forward

Moose covered a forward position this year, although this was his first varsity experience, and thus nothing in the spectacular could be expected from him, yet he could always be counted on to play a consistent game.

HUBERT SECHLER, Forward

With two seasons of hard work, "Sech" landed a forward position this year. Just as he fought in football, likewise he has in basketball, whole-heartedly. If he continues to improve like he has, Sechler will be a mainstay in the next two years.

HORACE TAYLOR. Guard

Taylor is a product of the Churchland High School, one of the fastest high school teams in the state. He moves now like a veteran on the court, and is never known to get winded. With three more years in front of him, he should develop into a wonder.

Baseball Review, 1922

ITH the game at Catawba on Monday, May 1, Lenoir closed one of the most successful baseball seasons in many years. During the spring fourteen official games were played, nine of which were won and five lost.

The season opened with a clean victory over Mars Hill, 7 to 2. The locals next met and defeated Rutherford, 5 to 4. It was a hard-fought game, but was finally tucked away as a victory by Rudisill, who poled out his second home run of the game. On March 27 Lenoir played her first game of the eastern trip with Elon. Jones, Lenoir's superb twirler, let the Elonites down with four scattered hits and struck out fifteen of their men.

After winning three straight games the tide turned for the Upstaters, and four victories were handed over to the opponents. After the return from the eastern trip M. P. C. I. was defeated on the local diamond by a score of 5 to 2. The Juniors were at the mercy of Jones, who allowed four hits and struck out fourteen men.

The Lenoirians took two games from Catawba during this season. With three thousand fans present on Easter Monday at Newton, Catawba was defeated by the Lutherans for the first time in five years in this annual game. Only three safeties were secured off Jones in the entire game. The following week Benfield shut them out on the local diamond by a score of 2 to 0.

During this season Phil Utley developed one of the best fielding clubs ever seen in this section. At all times the infield worked like well oiled machinery. The ability to win games did not lie in slugging so much as it did in pitching. The trio of pitchers were Jones, Brown, and Benfield. The slugging, although good, did not average as much as it has in recent years. The record for the 1922 season may well be placed along with the record of past seasons, for it is one of which every Lenoirian is proud.

Baseball Outlook for 1923

At the beginning of the present baseball season the prospects indicate that Lenoir will be represented by a team equally as good as the one last year.

MANAGER TICKLE

Five letter men are back again. It seems now that the positions vacated will be taken care of without any trouble. Boggs and Hawn will be back on shortstop and second, respectively.

Manager Tickle has been working hard on a schedule which is not complete at the time of this writing. Contracts have been signed with some of the strongest teams in North Carolina already, such as Trinity and Wake Forest and some of the smaller colleges, among them Guilford and Elon. He has practically worked out a trip into South Carolina, one which the Lutherans have never taken before. On this trip he proposes to play Presbyterian College, Clemson, Newberry, and Furman.

This is Captain Deaton's last year with the Lutherans. For four years he has received the old apple in great style, and has been one of the mainstays on the baseball diamond. Not only has he proved to be a slugger almost unequaled at the bat, but in many pinches behind the bat he has proved to be level-headed and a user of cool judgment which has resulted in victory.

Tennis at Lenoir

In the past years tennis at Lenoir has been a pastime, but the time has come when it should be considered as a collegiate sport. Two years ago it began to take a spring toward a higher and better form of athletics. That year several matches, both single and double, were arranged with some of the colleges of North Carolina, Davidson and Elon among them.

The freshmen were represented by a team in the fall which won several matches with the Star Town High, and which plans with the coming of spring to engage in several more matches.

The last few weeks have found the courts full. With so much enthusiasm we feel sure that tennis will rise to take its due place in the athletic life of Lenoir.

Last year a match was held with Elon on the home court. Rhyne and Carpenter, representing Lenoir, won in the doubles but lost in the singles. Lenoir had two representatives at the Olympic meet at Durham. These were Carpenter and Rhyne for tennis. Both survived the first round of singles, Carpenter winning his match by default and Rhyne by winning from Brown, of Guilford, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3. In the second round Carpenter lost to Wilkerson, of Davidson, 3-6, 4-6, while Rhyne was eliminated by Cunningham, of Davidson, 1-6, 3-6.

Manager Smyre has arranged some matches with different colleges, and it is likely that Lenoir will be represented by a team at the Olympic meet again. Tickle, who was kept out of tennis last year on account of a broken leg, will be back this year. Captain Carpenter is also on the job. With these men, Manager Smyre, and some new material, the outlook for tennis is promising.

Girls' Basketball

WILKIE PATTERSON, Forward

"Pat" was a remarkable player last year, and is keeping her place this year. She is a hard worker, usually she comes out of a scrimnage with the ball, and pitches it through the goal.

KATHRYNE RUDISILL. Forward

With three years of hard work on the varsity, "Kat" has made her record. She not only is a good shooter, but she knows how to pass the ball so the other forwards can shoot.

EDNA RHODES, Forward, Center

"Ed" has been playing this year either as forward or center. She starred for three years as center. She is quick and has the ability to cover the floor.

MABEL RUDISILL, Guard

This is Mabel's second year as guard on the team. She is strong and aggressive and makes it hard for the opposing team to keep the ball.

Myrtle Cooper. Center

It's almost impossible to keep up with this fast, shifty player. Myrtle gets the ball over to the forward because she knows how to work the floor.

LOUISE SETZER. Guard

As a guard, Louise promises to be a good player. She is quick and guards closely. In all her playing she handles the ball nicely.

FANNIE CARPENTER, Center, Forward

It is hard to tell which position Fannie plays better. She is tall and has reach. She is a good, steady worker, and rarely loses a pass.

MARY GOINS, Guard

Mary has more strength than several ordinary girls. She is a hard, determined fighter, and is worthy of all dependence.

NELLIE GILBERT, Forward, Manager

This girl is probably the surest and the highest scorer on the team. She always manages to keep in the open. Nellie has made a good manager for the team.

AGNES PARK, Guard

Agnes observes everything and guards closely at all times. She is quick and has been found to use good judgment.

The Culinary Department

To have an ideal student, attention should be given to the three sides of life—the mental, spiritual, and physical. Before any of these can be developed there must be food at the proper time, the proper kind, and prepared the proper way. Those boys living at Highland have been fortunate in having Miss Sox as matron of the dining hall, ably seconded by Miss Lown and several other assistants. They fill their positions well and never fail to make the boys sing with joy "when they hear the dinner bell ring."

Before this Annual can be complete a few words must be said in honor and praise of the matron of Oak View dining hall, Mrs. Fincannon, and her faithful assistants. They have succeeded in giving the girls three satisfactory meals every day except during the flu epidemic, while they were afflicted. Here and now their praise is sung.

Diary

SEPTEMBER

- 5—Lenoir swings wide her portals and welcomes old students, Elizabeth College girls, and rats, more rats, most rats, big rats, little and fat rats.
- 6—A survey is made of the material in the halls; as a result, a rat parade.
- 7—Seniors have first class meeting. Dr. Longaker says, "That's a good sign that the ball is rolling in the right direction."
- 8—The literary societies give the new students a rush.
- 9—First social event of the year—the faculty reception. New members introduced. Prof. and Mrs. Morgan, Coach and Mrs. LaMotte. Rats make hit, but can't excel seniors.
- 10—Sunday school classes organized and elect teachers. Special service at church and Luther League. President of Senior Class falls at social hour.
- 11—Campus courses end. Rules at Oak View Hall are read. Bryte and Myrtle think that they are ruined.
- 12—Fred Abernathy's orchestra is heard on the campus. Dr. Rein rambles over Europe for all who listen.
- 13—Football from the bald-headed to the baby members of the student body.
- 14—Plans for senior picnic in order; also, three new members added to class.
- 15-Sophs raise flag and keep it floating.
- 16—Sophs entertained rats with a "weenie" roast on the campus.
- 17-Rats don't go to church. We wonder why??????
- 18-One morning no announcements in chapel.
- 19—Holiday. Circus in town. Everyone swallows plenty of dust, some of the seniors lose dignity and have their pictures taken on the street.
- 20-Fred Abernathy mourning the death of "Liza".

- 21-Football rally in chapel.
- 22—Mr. Henry Tucker (manager of Hotel Huffry) entertains the faculty of Lenoir College at dinner.
- 23—Senior picnic becomes a reality. All off for Baker's Mountain. Mildred and Fannie lose their way on the mountain. Lots of eats. Mr. Baker becomes interested in the senior girls.
- 24-Dr. Peery preaches special sermon to college students.
- 25-Lorena and Donald enjoy the movies and "moonlight".
- 26—Eugene Smith "reaches Jerusalem" Tuesday evening at Luther League reception. Heaps of fun.
- 27—Mrs. Sieg reminds girls for the third time that they are not allowed to watch the boys play football.
- 28-Juanita, Nell and Dot were said to have carried the senior privileges too far.
- 29—J. I. Cline distinguishes himself in Senior Class meeting. For the third time it was decided to have pictures made in caps and gowns.
- 30—Sophs off to Clonniger's Mill on the annual picnic. Dr. Longaker has misfortune. Unfortunately, nobody drowned.

OCTOBER

- 1-Lettie Vail holds the dignity of the senior table.
- 2-Blue Monday; all is quiet on the campus.
- 3—Jay Boggs and "pep" returns to Lenoir College.
- 4—Half holiday for fair. Lots of dust. Faith, Sudie, Mary, and Lib ride the ferris wheel continually.
- 5-For one Thursday morning no Senior Class meeting.
- 6—Reception for football squad and Guilford boys at Highland Hall. Faith Kohn makes quite a hit with the Quakers, inspires one, and vamps another.

- 7—Football game with Guilford—G. C., 31; L. C., 7. College band furnishes music for the snake dance.
- 8—Everybody must go to Sunday school or names must be sent home.
- 9—Seniors are worried trying to make use of their privileges.
- 10-Noah has a formal opening of college store.
- 11-Dramatic Club is organized for the year.
- 12—Faith Kohn receives a letter from Guilford????
- 13—The Philalethian and Eumenean Societies wishing to know the talent of their new members, give them a "try out".
- 14—Sad, but true. Another game goes wrong. Elon, 48; L. C., 7. Co-eds stage another snake dance.
- 15—President of student body falls at Oak View during social hour.
- 16—James Roof returns thanks in the following way: "Lord, make us thankful for what little we are about to receive."
- 17—Sophs, after much controversy, finally agree on individual pictures for HACAWA.
- 18—Everybody looks pretty—pictures being made for Annual.
- 19—Seniors wrangle—the pictures will be made without caps and gowns.
- 20—Football team leaves for Bristol to play King College. Students cut classes to give team a send-off.
- 21-Football: Lenoir, o; King??? Who would have thought it?
- 22—Sunday; Lee Pasour goes to church. Cy Lutz a welcome visitor at Oak View during social hour.
- 23—J. I. Cline arrives in class on time. Football rally. We decide to beat Catawba.
- 24—Hot weather. Few get to class on time. Kern angry; pictures still being made.
- 25—Highland menn changed—hominy instead of grits. More salt in gravy, Rats decide to have picnic.

- 26-Juniors go on picnic.
- 27—Freshmen journey to Baker's Mountain for picnic. Thompson lost, but reports a wonderful time.
- 28—Everybody busy studying for tests. Very few attend church. Pete Deaton breaks a long-standing record and goes to Oak View.
- 29-Weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Examinations begin.
- 30-First Lyceum number of season.
- 31-Hallowe'en party. Freshmen win prize for the best stunt of the evening.

NOVEMBER

- 1—Fred Abernethy mentions caps and gowns in Senior Class meeting to create some excitement.
- 2—Prof. Yoder (discussing organic and inorganic kingdoms): "Now, if I should shut my eyes—so—and drop my head so—and remain perfectly still, you would say I was a clod. But I move, I leap. Then what do you call me?" Robert Clemmer: "A clodhopper, sir."
- 3—Eumeneans entertain Philalethians with tacky party at Oak View. Mrs. Sieg joins in the dancing.
- 4-Juniors go to Kenworth for fall picnic.
- 5-Couples going up street for church get there in time for collection to be taken.
- 6-Exams over; everybody breathes freely once more.
- 7-Horrors!!! Exam grades are going to be posted on bulletin board.
- 8—"Ashes to ashes, dust to dust—if chemistry doesn't get you, physics must."
- 9—Luther League social at Oak View. Ava acquires a special love for salt.
- 10-Lenoir defeats Mars Hill, 13 to 12.
- 11—Philalethians give Armistice Day program at open meeting.
- 12—Rain all day; have cheese for Sunday night supper for a change.

1923 HACAWA

- 13—Clifford Devereaux players present "Arms and the Man" and "Romeo and Juliet". Kern, Sigmond, Bolick, Cauble, chaperoned by Miss Lund, motor to Salisbury to see "The Mikado."
- 14-New day for Lenoir College! Daniel E. Rhyne donates $300,000.
- 15—Dr. Fritz announces the Daniel E. Rhyne gift in chapel. Students given a half holiday. All go to town and help in parade.
- 16—"Will the name of the college be changed?" is heard on the campus.
- 17—"Better keep your head inside the window!" warned the brakeman to Yates Heafner. "I can look out of the window if I want to!" Yates responded, with a wink at his companions. "Sure you can," answered the brakeman, "but if you damage any of the iron work of the bridges you will have to pay for them."
- 18—Everybody goes to see "Smilin' Through".
- 19—Diakonian Club begins work at the Good Hope Mission.
- 20—Blue Monday. Nothing unusual happens to break the monotony.
- 21—Carolina Glee Club gives concert in the City Auditorium. Mary Deaton has misunderstanding about dates, and as a result both Starnes and Wise come to Oak View.
- 22-Rotarians give minstrel in City Hall. Seniors monopolize the privilege of going.
- 23—President of student body makes fiery speech. Positively no mixing of co-eds on campus.
- 24—"I don't like these photos at all," replied Jimmy Kern, "I look like an ape." Photographer Hardin favored him with a glance of lofty disdain. "You should have thought of that before you had them taken," was his reply, as he turned back to work.
- 25—Our last game of football at home. Lenoir is defeated by Oak Ridge, 6 to o. Students show lots of pep.

- 26—Missionary Society of St. Andrew's give an interesting pageant.
- 27-Mrs. Franceska Lawson gives recital in auditorium.
- 28—Pep meetings and ball games are not the place for whispering "sweet nothings," according to LaMotte.
- 29-Cooks at Oak View have "flu". Girls take charge of kitchen.
- 30—Thanksgiving Day. Students go to Newton for football game with Catawba. Although we lost, the boys put up a good fight.

DECEMBER

- 1-Football boys take a well deserved rest.
- 2-Hugh Rhyne visits campus.
- 3—Mrs. Sieg has flu; Lorena takes charge of hall.
- 4—Both girls and boys report for first basketball practice.
- 5-Rain-and no excitement.
- 6-Faith Kohn packs her trunk for Christmas holidays,
- 7—Wilkie (boosting the collection to be taken for Good Hope Mission): "Myrtle, will you join us in the missionary movement?" Myrtle: "Oh, I am crazy to try it! Is it anything like the fox trot?"
- 8—Football boys given banquet at Hotel Huffry. Joby Hawn elected captain and Yates Heafner manager.
- 9—Impromptu Virginia reel staged at Oak View. Misses Feezor and Wolff furnish music.
- 10—Furr being successful in love, gives lecture to boys at Highland Hall.
- 11—Announcement made in chapel that the Christmas holidays begin after classes on Friday, December 15, and last until Tuesday, January 2. Physics class adjourns three hours of lab.
- 12—Dr. Sox informs Jeff that he mustn't abuse his senior privileges by sitting with the girls on Bible.

- 13—Lettie Vail practices physics on education class. Prof. Morgan says that he will tell Prof. Lugn how interested she is.
- 14—Band gives concert in chapel. Thompson and Fred Abernethy moved to tears when they play "Home, Sweet Home". One more day of grace! Christmas vacation extended until January 3.
- 15-Home for holidays!

JANUARY, 1923

- 3-Dr. Rhyne fulfills promise and brings "one" back with him.
- 4-Students attend Lyceum and receive good luck cards.
- 5—The "Flapper Table" is a thing of the past. Mrs. Sieg intervenes.
- 6-Seniors investigate industries of Hickory.
- 7-Dot's loss and Statesville's gain!
- 8-Fresh-Soph debate. Chrestonian Society wins.
- 9—Dr. Peery says that senior privileges embrace only seniors. Wynne interprets it in his own way.
- 10-KCLO & S????? Ask Donald.
- 11—Last number of Lyceum. Troubadour Quartet.
- 12—A few stragglers summon up enough courage to work in chemistry laboratory again.
- 13—Where were James Roof, James Kern, and Frank Abernethy during social hour?
- 15-Mid-term exams begin.
- 16—Chemistry department decide to express sympathy for Donald by sending flowers.
- 17—Physics I exam. Result: Fullenwider and Beam decide to discontinue their physical culture.

- 18—Musical recital given by Dr. Vardell in the City Auditorium. Miss Stewart's music pupils learn that "Turkey in the Straw" is a classic.
- 19—Chemistry I meet their "Waterloo". Forty-three out of fifty-seven flunk.
- 20—Faculty reception in honor of Dr. Rhyne and bride. Dr. Longaker reminds the bridegroom "that occasions like this should be only once to every man".
- 21—Question for debate: "Is it justifiable to pull the ox out of the ditch on Sunday when you have been pushing it in for four long months?"
- 22-Last day of exams. "Hot dog!"
- 23-Basketball boys go on eastern trip.
- 24—Pauline, Kat, and Julia anxiously await the mail. We wonder!
- 25—Scrubs win an easy game from Highland High School; also, girls win from Hickory High.
- 26—Senior girls entertained at Oak View by Lettie Vail, Dot, Juanita, and Nell.
- 27—Faculty privilege to have dates at Oak View on Saturday night due to other engagements on Sunday.
- 28—Basketball boys return from their eastern trip. Wynne says, "We won all the games but five."
- 29—Donald Hutton back in school, looking almost natural. Lorena wears a smile that won't rub off. Stephen Foster program at the municipal building. Student body attends.
- 30—All the dignitaries on hand discussing the plans for Lenoir's campaign for an endowment of a million dollars.
- 31-"Now this book must go to press-All the rest you will have to guess."

KRAZY KRACKS

"Mike" Royal: "I sure did knock 'em cold in Rapid Calculation this morning."

"Ign." Furr: "What did you get?"
"Mike" Royal: "Zero."

"Dick" Hamilton (on Glee Club trip): "Waiter, any soup on this bill of fare?"

Waiter: "There was, but I wiped it off."

James Boyd (on History exam) writes: "Virginia was permanently settled by Miles Standish."

Ed. Whitener: "Gee, my head is hot!" Louise Setzer: "I thought I smelled wood burning."

Dr. Rein: "Are there any more questions on the lesson?"

Jason Rudisill: "Yes, sir; would you please explain how the French get masculine milk from a feminine cow?"

Did the fourth alarm given by "Kat" and "Molly" result in the calling out of the fire department?

"Here's something queer," said the dentist. "You say this tooth has never been worked on before, but I find small flakes of gold on my instrument."

"I think you have struck my back collar button," moaned Frank Abernethy.

Bryte: "I hear Jason was put out of the game for holding."

Carmen: "Isn't that just like him?"

Jimmy Boyd: "Was Joan of Arc Noah's wife?"

Nurse (to Donald, while in hospital): "So you want me to read Miss Arndt's letter to you?"

Donald: "Sure, and as it's rather private, will you please stuff some cotton in your ears while you read it?"

"Doc." Reitzel: "Do you read Whiz Bang?"

V. Snyder: "No—ah, I don't care for Dickens' works."

A Toast

Here's to the man who wears his hat,
And wears his hat alone,
For many a man wears another man's hat

And says he is wearing his own.

—Harvard Lampoon.

Fred: "Why does Mable blush every time she sees you?"

John: "I got her laundry last week by mistake."

Nell: "Gee, but this milk is blue!" Bunn: "Poor cow must have been homesick."

Dr. Rein: "Have you been anywhere else?"

Fred Abernethy: "Yes, I went to Dr. Heald."

Dr. Rein: "What idiotic advice did he give you?"

Fred: "He told me to come and see you, sir."

Wynne: "Why are divorces practically unknown in Sweden?"

Frank: "Because it is the land of safety matches."

Juanita: "Dot, a young man told me he saw Bob kiss you coming home from the Lyceum the other night."

Dot (indignantly): "Well, I don't see how he saw it."

"O, wad the pow'r the giftie gi'e us To tree our profs as our profs tree us."

Prof. Lugn: "Is oxygen hard to prepare?"

Victor: "No, sir, not if you know how."

Cephas: "Really, your lips are like rose petals."

Myrtle: "Well, Cephas, dear, I must say good night."

Cephas: "Let's say it with flowers."

Mrs. Seig: "Bryte, I heard you coming up the stairs; you're making entirely too much noise."

Bryte: "Mrs. Seig, you could not hear me—I have on rubber heels."

Mrs. Seig: "It wasn't your heels, it was your mouth."

The height of Ignorance—Brevard Furr. If ignorance was a back alley, he would be a boulevard.

The height of Flapperism—Bryte Rudisill. Just so he wears pants.

The height of Perseverance—Dewey Starnes. We wish he could get a date.

The height of Beauty—Henderson Kiser. He looks better going than coming. The height of Laziness—Baxter Moose. Too lazy to yawn.

The height of Curiosity—Ruth Troutman. Course 'tain't none of my business, but—

The height of Heroism—Luther Bolick. He ran so fast his knees ran a hot box.

The height of Superstition—Eugene Junker. He was born on the thirteenth and has hated himself ever since.

The height of Stupidity—Carmen Oakes. She thinks that Einstein's Theory of Relativity is a recipe for a cook book.

The height of Darwin's delight— "Doc" Reitzel. Old Darwin would have given a fortune for his face.

I asked her if she rolled them; She said she never tried; Just then a mouse came by And now I know she lied.

Dr. Longaker: "I hope you will have a very happy vacation and come back knowing more than you know now."

"Red" Brown: "The same to you, sir."

This year's Glee Club was a howling success.

Boyd Royal: "Why does love make the world go round?"

Vernon Snyder: "Because every lover is a crank."

If these jokes are old and stale, be a real college man and woman—at least respect them for their old age, and laugh at us if not with us.

Signed: THE EDITORS.
